

Welcome to 3s!

Based on an integrative perspective combining learning, work and knowledge, we develop, design and provide innovative premium products and services to our customers. Our interdisciplinarity allows us to deploy our skills and competences in various different fields, including information technology, economy, engineering, media, culture, health, social affairs and the environment.

This approach has made us market leader and a pioneer in products and services located at the interface of education and the labour market. Our methods are based on scientific research; in their implementation, though, our priorities are practical use, consistent focus on goals and our clients' success.
